BESPOKE CLEANING FOR INDUSTRY

“

Our team here at Kingfisher have been in the industrial cleaning business for over 40 years. In that time we've built a reputation of being able to solve industrial cleaning problems where other companies have fallen short.

The right tools for the job

Industrial cleaning requires specialist equipment. High-pressure steam, access platforms and high-powered vacuum systems to name just a few. Sometimes the job requires bespoke machinery; this is the task that we take in our stride and we always find the correct kit for the job.

Over 40 years of experience

Over the years, we have been involved with many cleaning projects for industries all over the UK, helping them to successfully keep their premises clean and safe.

Our works have spanned from cleaning intricate machinery, to mass debris removal in industrial basements. If there's a dirty area of a factory, we most likely will have cleaned something like it in our time!

Cleaning in industry requires a certain approach. It needs the right company with the correct tools, but more than that, it requires tenacity from a team keen to see a job done right and to an exceptional standard. That's Kingfisher!

“

From start to completion Kingfisher gave me full confidence in being able to carry out the not so easy task in front of them, given the open conditions and rural location. All Kingfisher staff came to site on time and began inductions, they listened, reacted, and worked very efficiently and professionally, not at any time did anyone complain or slack off. Kingfisher came prepared with their own equipment (very impressive) and remained self-sufficient for the entirety. Safety, speed, and quality of works were paramount and I'm very pleased to say all three were delivered!

FOOD MANUFACTURER CLEANING

Much of our work involves services for clients in the food and beverage industry, whether it be packaging manufacturers or raw food and ingredient suppliers.

We provide deep cleans and regular contract cleans for production areas, machines, floors and walls, high level areas, storerooms and amenities.

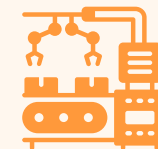

Thanks to these cleans, many of our clients' sites have passed BRCGS Food Safety audits with AA+ ratings.

MACHINERY & PRODUCTION LINES

We offer production line and machinery cleaning services for manufacturing plants, food and beverage production facilities and other industrial sites.

Cleaning maintenance for a factory production line and machinery is essential for any manufacturer. Over time, factory production machinery becomes exposed to grease, oil, dust and contaminants, which can either cause breakdowns in machinery over time or can contaminate your products.

Get in touch with a few details about your project and we will arrange a free site consultation.

INDUSTRIAL VACUUMING

Industrial vacuums are excellent and specialised pieces of kit for industrial cleaning. They are used for cleaning spaces with large amounts of debris, dust, oil and grime. Our Industrial Vacuuming services are efficient, fully mobile and cost effective.

Kingfisher own a variety of industrial vacuums fit for every need, including high-level cleaning and hot-end furnace area work.

A lot of our work involves oil, dust and grime removal from industrial furnace areas to reduce risk of fire.

All of our equipment is fully mobile. Our services cover the whole of mainland UK and we often travel across the country to deliver our specialised cleaning services.

CONFINED SPACE/ HAZARDOUS AREA CLEANING

We understand more than most how hazardous some areas on industrial sites can be, including basements, confined space areas, furnace/hot zones and more.

Our team are expertly trained and work according to the strictest Health and Safety standards. This allows us to deliver high quality cleaning and painting results in hazardous areas on site. These works are high risk yet can vastly improve safety for the site and its employees. It is essential to partner with a professional company for this work, with a team who know what they're doing.

TANK CLEANING

Kingfisher have extensive experience in cleaning industrial tanks for a variety of facilities, including pet food, ink and glass manufacturing plants.

Effective tank cleaning is essential to prolong the life of the vessel, as well as for inspections or preparing the tank for another material.

Depending on the material and severity of the build-up, cleaning may require specialist tools, chemicals or high-pressure steam cleaning.

HIGH LEVEL ACCESS CLEANING

Much of our work involves cleaning at high-level, to service areas which are sometimes forgotten about or, in many cases, not cleaned properly by other contractors. High level girders and roofing areas can accumulate dust and combustibles that increase the risk of industrial fires.

High-level cleaning requires scissor lifts or cherry pickers with experienced and trained operatives. We have extensive experience in high-level cleaning in warehouses, factory production areas and hot-end furnace areas.

Cleaning at high level is essential for removing dust or oil build up, and for fire prevention.
